In 1863, during the American Civil War, Pres. Abraham Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation, which declared more than three million slaves living in the Confederate states to be free. More than two years would pass, however, before the news reached people living in Texas. It was not until Union soldiers arrived in Galveston, Texas, on June 19, 1865, that the state's residents learned that slavery had been abolished. The former slaves immediately began to celebrate with prayer, feasting, song, and dance
